Bird in Hand Cabernet Sauvignon 2018

ADELAIDE HILLS

Site selection for Adelaide Hills Cabernet is absolutely key. This single vineyard wine was from a low yielding block in Macclesfield on the south-eastern fringe of the Adelaide Hills. This vineyard has a strong maritime influence and is set on a 45-degree gradient, with its highest point at 400m above sea level.

2018 vintage maximum and minimum temperatures for the ripening period of January through to March were well above the long-term average, and rainfall was 50% below average for the same period which provided seasonal conditions for all reds to reach their ideal maturity.

The majority of the fruit spent between 7-10 days on skins during fermentation to maximise colour, flavour and tannin extraction with a select batch left on skins post fermentation for 28 days. The fruit was then transferred to French oak barriques for 18 months, 50% of which was new oak from coopers specifically selected for premium Cabernet.

The resultant wine is reflective of a warmer Adelaide Hills vintage. Intensely complex yet varietal Cabernet with blackcurrant, plum and wild cherry complemented by nuanced and well-integrated oak characters- cedar, mocha and spearmint. Full bodied and whilst tightly structured in its youth, the mid-palate has generous weight and depth, all framed by long, velvety tannins.

The wine will cellar for several years, and is a great match for braised beef with roasted shallots or osso bucco with truffled polenta.
